PERSONNEL, TRAVEL, SCHOLARLY ACTIVITIES

EASTERN WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

Frederick Lauritsen, Assistant Professor of History, recently received his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. His dissertation topic dealt with numismatics.

Sinclair Hood of Oxford, the Norton lecturer, spoke at Eastern February 14 on "Tholos Tombs of the Aegean" and at the Spokane Society of the Archaeological Institute of America on "The Destruction of Crete ca. 1450 B.C."

William R. Biers of the University of Missouri will speak at Eastern April 4 on "The Roman Baths of Corinth" and at the Spokane Society, AIA, on "Excavations at Phlius, Greece 1972"

GONZAGA UNIVERSITY

Lecture Andreas Spira, Professor of Classical Philology at the University of Mainz, lectured on "Metaphysics and Political Thought: The Myth of Protagoras," March 22nd. He spoke to an audience of students, faculty and townspeople on the significance of the Protagoras myth for an understanding of Plato's Republic.

Honors Program The freshman Honors Program is taught by a team of faculty members from the departments of Classics, History, Philosophy and English. Fredric W. Schlatter, S.J., represents the Classics Department

Language Requirement A modification of the foreign language requirement in the College of Arts and Sciences has been proposed to the Academic Council and is awaiting approval for implementation in September, 1973. The existing requirement has called for three semesters in a foreign language, classical or modern, with appropriate reductions for those students who have received advanced standing on the basis of high school achievement. The proposed modification would allow the substitution of a semester in linguistics and/or a semester in foreign literature in translation in partial fulfillment of the requirement. The change, if approved, will probably increase enrollments in courses in Greek and Latin literature in translation. At the same time it will not permit students to graduate from the College without some experience in a foreign language.

Publications Recent publications by members of the Classics Department include:

Hans Dietz, "Sophocles, Oed. Col. 1583f.," Gymnasium 79 (1972) 239-242.

John H. Taylor, S.J., "Epicureanism," article in Philosophical Dictionary by Walter Brugger and Kenneth Baker, pp. 112-113; and co-author with L. Donald Davis, S.J., of the article, "Augustinianism," in the same Dictionary, pp. 25-27.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Professor John B. McDiarmid has announced his intention to give up the chairmanship of the department at the end of the current academic year. He is planning to take a sabbatical leave for the 1973-74 term and will then return to active teaching.

On April 3, Professor William Biers of the University of Missouri, will present a lecture for the Seattle Society of the AIA on "Recent Excavations at Phlius, Greece 1972."

The department is again offering a full program during the summer session. New this year is a course in English on Greek and Roman Religion and Cult, offered by Professor Harmon. Professor Edmonson will again offer an intensive course in Modern Greek; there also will be an intensive course in Elementary Latin. There will be no course in Latin teaching methods and materials but Professor Read will be available for consultation.

ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL

The Classical World (Feb 1973) notes that the spring issue of Tempus follows the format of Time magazine with the setting being the twentieth year of the reign of Tiberius. CW reports that "The magazine is made timely by its editorials, its crisp sport reports, and its ads with drawings. It has an enticing plug for the Apollo Restaurant with the house specialty of peacock tongues." Dinner, anyone?
